

DARK Love.STORIES

<https://darklovestories.com>

6 February 2017

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

Post a selfie on Valentine's Day!

Sydney-based fantasy and paranormal romance writer asks readers to celebrate real-life love on Valentine's Day using selfies. Georgia Carter Mathers encourages people to post a selfie of themselves and their partner with the hashtag #romanceis4everyone.

We all love flowers and chocolates on Valentine's Day, but sometimes it feels like shallow commercialism. "Let's use the day to celebrate the loving relationships we enjoy, but also, we need to recognise that some people don't have this luxury."

"Society teaches both men and women that they should be in a relationship to be accepted. Valentine's Day is a huge reminder of that. For some, the day only reminds them that they're alone or they're in a violent relationship of some kind."

"Let's make the day more inclusive rather than harping on about some vague idea of commercialised love."

You can find Georgia at Kirribilli Markets on 12 February 2017, where she will be selling copies of her book. Her first novel, Trelloran Seduction (2016, 458 pages), is part of a three book series, The Making of a Goddess. This book is about a nymph princess obsessed with revenge, a rebel and two messed up worlds.

ENDS

For more information, photos or to organise an interview, contact Georgia at:

<http://darklovestories.com/media/>

mathersj@optusnet.com.au

0424 766 144

media release